

Welcome friend...

We are pleased to have you as our guest in the Jacksonville Museum of Military History.

The local men and women of the area, both civilians and military, have played an important role in the defense of our country from the 1800s to the present.

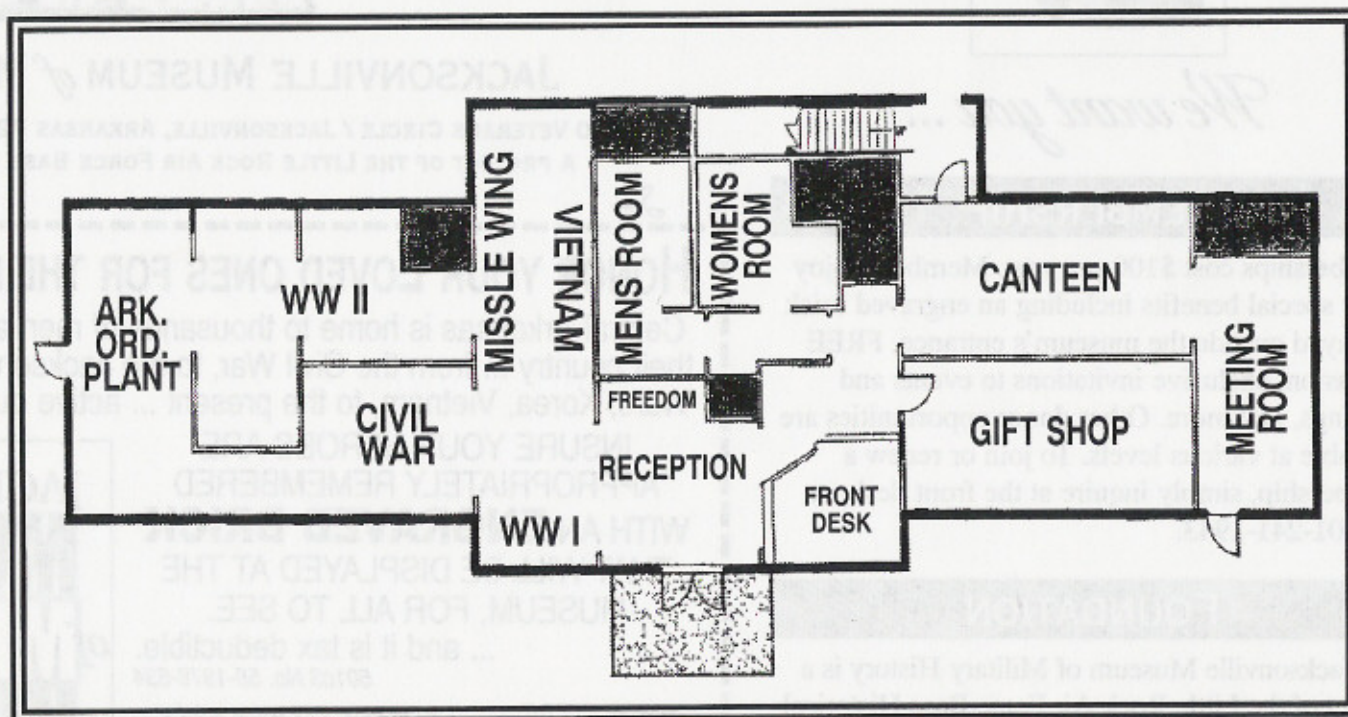

As you study the displays, you will learn about a Civil War battle fought only a few miles away, see relics from a WWII detonator plant on property where you are standing that extended for miles to the northwest, compare U.S. military uniforms from various branches of service and time periods, view information from an Air Force intercontinental missile program that helped keep peace during the Cold War, and enjoy our extensive collection of wartime posters.

Take all the time you need, and come back and visit often. We're proud to show off our heritage.

FOUNDATION

The Jacksonville Museum of Military History is a project of the Little Rock Air Force Base Historical Foundation, Inc., 501c3 No. 58-1978-634. The foundation fosters an appreciation that the freedoms we enjoy are not to be taken for granted, and educates the public on the important military and home front role played by the community and the men and women of the armed services.

GIFTING TO THE MUSEUM

Persons may give or loan the museum items in good condition from their own personal collections. For details, check at the front desk.
